

Challenge Soviet 'Peace' Talk

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK

—Something worth while is in the offing for Dixon high school pupils who rate high scholastically but whose academic achievements may not have captured the notice they properly deserve.

A dinner, to be held May 19, will offer recognition to Dixon high school scholars and, in addition, a number of local civic groups are sponsoring awards to be presented to the top students in various phases of class room endeavor.

The details have not been completed but the dinner will be under the joint sponsorship of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women and the Dixon Woman's club.

What the sponsors hope to do is to equal the enthusiasm usually registered on behalf of Dixon high athletes. At the scholarship dinner there will be a speaker prominent in the field of education or in public life. If we sense the clubs' objective, this is not to be a repetition of the usual commencement exercises but a chance for the scholars to bask for a night in the limelight and in an atmosphere containing a degree of informality.

They (the leading students) will be guests of persons who have a genuine desire to encourage scholastic excellence among local young people.

School officials and faculty members will determine the winners of the awards. In addition to the award winners a certain percentage of top students in each class will be extended invitations to attend.

The whole idea has a good deal of merit. Mrs. Charles F. Johnston is the "coordinator" of the plans and will announce further details soon.

Several local sources have advanced the theory that several candidates entered in the park board and school board elections are using the election as a sort of trial balloon for other elections to come.

One observer predicted flatly that a candidate for a park board job is angling for the mayorship two years hence and has figured that it would be wise to condition the voters. If he falls flat on his face in the park board voting, he'll reconsider plans for seeking Mayor William Slothower's job.

The Evening Telegraph is drafting a letter to all candidates for the park and school board posts, offering them an opportunity to express their views and programs should they be elected for office.

Of course it's not mandatory for them to reply; this newspaper is merely giving them an opportunity to tell the public—Mr. Taxpayer—what they expect to deliver after they've been elected. We think that it's only fair to the voters.

You can't tell a candidate without a platform!

C. Howard Smith, Stated to Speak Here, Succumbs

The Dixon chamber of commerce received word today that the featured speaker for its annual meeting March 26, died Saturday.

According to information forwarded by Spencer Shaw, manager of the United States chamber of commerce, North Central division, in Chicago, C. Howard Smith, program advisor for the national chamber of commerce, succumbed after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage Saturday morning.

Smith died in Eau Claire, Wis. His wife was with him at the time of death. The deceased was a resident of Beloit, Wis.

Miss Frances Patrick, secretary of the Dixon chamber of commerce, announced today that Eugene F. Seehafer, of Columbia Broadcasting System, Chicago, will replace Smith as the main speaker at the annual meeting to be held at the Loveland Community house.

THREE KILLED IN BRIDGE PILEUP—Spectators stand helplessly as three persons (arrow) burn to death following a three-way collision in Perry, Ga., involving an auto, an auto carrier, and a gasoline truck. Witnesses told state police the auto had stopped at one end of a narrow bridge to let a gasoline truck pass when the auto carrier sideswiped the gas truck and then plowed into the auto. Victims were trapped under the wreckage of the auto which was completely demolished. Three others were critically burned. —(AP Wirephoto).

ICC Orders Continuance of Mt. Morris-Oregon Bus

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission has directed the American Bus Lines to continue its new experimental bus service between Oregon and Mt. Morris, Ill., until March 31.

The ICC Tuesday granted a motion of Village Attorney Paul Rees of Mt. Morris, who opposes abandonment of service and suggested at a March 11 hearing that an experimental service be continued.

The line formerly operated three round trips daily between the two towns. Last Aug. 16, it asked the ICC for permission to abandon the line. The commission on Jan. 15 suggested an experimental period of a month in which the bus line would operate five round trips daily between the two towns, to see whether this might increase the number of passengers and the revenue.

The company told the ICC March 10 it lost $470 in the one-month experiment.

In directing an extension of the experimental service, the commission set April 2 for a new hearing on the results.

Tom and Bertha Fruin, caretakers for the family homestead, share a $500 bequest.

The estate was appraised at $129,000 gross value, $90,000 of it in stocks and bonds and $125,000 net. Dodd, who died June 2, 1951, was honorary president of the American Management association, and had been president of the association for 12 years. He was buried in Dixon.

Boy, 13, Denied TV, Slays Aunt, 5-Year-Old Sister

HEBRON, Neb.—(AP)—A 13-year-old boy, who said he took gun in hand after being refused permission to watch television, was held today in the fatal shootings of his aunt and his 5-year-old sister.

Thayer County Attorney W. O. Baldwin quoted the lad as saying he had not meant to shoot the sister, he intended only to shoot the aunt because she would not let him go to a neighbor's house to watch TV.

Held was Lawrence M. Young, 13, who lived on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Virile Stewart near Alexandria, Neb.

Killed outright in the shootings Tuesday night was Mrs. Stewart, about 40, aunt and foster mother to the boy.

Fatally wounded also was Cathy Young, 5, Lawrence's sister. She died at a Fairbury, Neb., clinic today, about 12 hours after the shootings.

Baldwin said Lawrence told this story:

When Mrs. Stewart refused him permission to watch television, he took a .22 caliber automatic rifle from the house, went to the barn and hid in the hay to wait for her.

When Mrs. Stewart came in the barn door, apparently looking for the boy, he fired, killing Mrs. Stewart, wounding his sister and killing a dog, Lawrence said he fired about six times.

Lawrence then threw the gun in a pond and walked about five miles to the neighbor's farm home and watched television for about two or three hours.

Meanwhile, Stewart, away at the time of the shootings, returned home and notified authorities.

Expect Township Tax Cut

Highby Offers Town, Relief Cut of $5,000

All Township Funds Show Balances for 1952 Fiscal Year

Dixon township taxpayers can expect a cut in their township tax rate affecting taxes paid in 1954, A. C. Highby, Dixon township supervisor, said today.

Highby said that a cut of approximately $5,000 from the 1953 estimated budget, as compared with 1952, is hoped to be obtained at the annual town meeting April 7.

The reduction will be the second since 1951, he added. And, the cut will be made primarily from two of the three departments of the township budget, the town and relief funds.

In 1951, the town and relief funds totaled $28,950. At the 1952 town meeting, the total was reduced to $24,400, Highby said.

On April 7, according to the supervisor, he will again recommend a cut approximating $5,000.

Cities Balances

Highby said that the proposed tax reduction has been made possible in that the township was able to end the 1952 and 1951 fiscal years with substantial balances in tax funds.

And, he added, it's his purpose to cut taxes whenever there is a sizeable balance from a previous year and when the township is believed able to operate on a reduced levy.

Highby said the tentative figures, subject to revision, show that the township weathered 1952 with balances in every department—road and bridge, relief, and town funds.

In that the township's fiscal year doesn't conclude until March 20, he continued, a final figure for the 1952 year is still pending.

Until March 1, 1953, the road and bridge fund showed a balance of approximately $6,118.03 not extended for county road and bridge repairs.

The balance in the relief fund and the town fund amounted to $14,631.68 and $5,305.60, respectively, Highby reported.

Spend $31,354

The total working capital in the township's road and bridge fund for 1952 was approximately $37,475, he added. From that figure, the township expended about $31,356.97 for road and bridge work.

Highby said that the 1952 levy for the road and bridge fund was slightly higher than that of 1951 in that the township faced higher costs in repairing damages through out the Dixon area.

In 1953, the costs are expected to be about the same in 1952 in that the township must handle many jobs neglected last year to repair damages caused by the elements, Highby contended.

All Permanent

However, repairs made during 1952 are all permanent, he said, and they are not expected to call for additional repair expense in the near future as would temporary repairs.

In the relief fund, expected to play a primary role in the overall reduction of 1953 township taxes, the total working capital for 1952 amounted to $27,642.08. The figure includes the 1951 balance, Highby said.

Total expenditures from the relief fund for 1952 were $13,010.40, leaving a balance of about $14,631.68 to be applied to the 1953 budget. The balance is more than that of 1951.

In the town fund, the working capital for 1952 was about $20,912.49 and included the 1951 balance of $6,471.01. Total 1952 expenditures from the town fund amounts to, at present, approximately $15,608.89, he added.

Highby emphasized that the above figures are tentative and may be changed prior to March 20 when the 1952 fiscal year ends. However, to date, they bring the totals close to the actual figures to be calculated subsequent to the year's end.

BULLETIN

New Bill Would Allow City Sales Tax Without Voting

Bill to Raise Minimum Pay of Police Wins Committee Approval

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(AP)—Two minority Democrats in the Illinois house propose lifting the referendum approval needed before cities can levy a one-half per cent local sales tax.

Reps. Paul Powell of Vienna, Democratic minority leader, and James J. Ryan of Chicago, filed a bill Tuesday to eliminate the referendum hurdle.

The referendum requirement, spokesmen for cities assert, has kept them from tapping this lucrative revenue source authorized by the 1947 legislature.

None Adopt It

No city has adopted the city sales tax. Some have tried but the voters turned them down. East St. Louis is a case in point.

The current legislative commission on municipal revenue laws refused to recommend removal of the referendum as a means of helping cash-poor cities.

Meanwhile, a bill of the sort city officials contend aggravates their money problems won endorsement from the senate municipalities committee.

Would Raise Pay

The bill would raise the minimum salary of policemen to $300 a month in cities of 5,000 to 25,000 population, $325 in those of 25,000 to 75,000 and $350 in the 75,000 to 150,000 bracket.

The present minimums are $150 in cities of 10,000 to 25,000 population and $175 a month in the 25,000 to 150,000 bracket.

Three recommendations of the municipal revenue laws commission received approval of house committees.

The motor vehicles and traffic regulation group okayed a proposal to allow downstate cities to double wheel taxes.

Approved by the house municipalities committee were measures that would permit all cities to initiate proceedings on annexing neighboring unincorporated areas and to contract for advertising on parking meters.

Lion, Not Atom Bomb, Breaks Pane

LIVINGSTON, Mont.—(AP)—Just as the radio brought word of the atomic test in Nevada Tuesday a double front window of the H. O. Rice home here carved in with a crash.

"It seemed possible it could have been broken by an atomic explosion," Mrs. Rice said.

Instead the Rices discovered an inquisitive mountain lion had smashed the glass, then left a trail of blood through the neighborhood.

Hounds freed the animal after it swam the Yellowstone river and a hunter shot it. The 120-pound lion measured 7 1/2 feet.

B. L. Frazer In School Board Race

Files Late Tuesday; He's Fifth to Run For Two Vacancies

A fifth candidate, Bernard L. Frazer, life insurance agent, entered the school board race Tuesday night shortly before the midnight filing deadline.

Two posts on the board will be filled in the April 7 school election. Two other elections, one for township officers and the other for park district commissioners, will be held the same day.

Earlier yesterday, A. C. Highby, Dixon township supervisor and president of the Dixon rural fire protection district, and Sidney Sinow, local businessman, filed nomination petitions for the school election.

John Dixon, attorney here, and William E. Haarbauer, plant manager of Reynolds wire division of National Standard Co., declared their candidacies last week.

Haarbauer currently is serving on the board in the unexpired term of Dr. Stirling Stackhouse. He was appointed when Stackhouse resigned upon moving from the school district last spring.

Vacancies to be filled in the election were created by the expiring terms of Haarbauer and George Knouse. Knouse is not seeking reelection.

Latest candidate to file is a lifelong resident of Dixon. Frazer was graduated from Dixon high school in 1942 and from the University of Illinois in 1948, with a bachelor of science degree. He also has credit toward a master's degree in the public relations field of educational administration.

Frazer is a veteran of World War II, during which he served in the southwest Pacific area.

He taught English in Pawpaw high school in 1948-49 before becoming an insurance representative.

Election Data

Here is a roundup of dates and other brief information regarding the school election:

Polling sites will be in South Central school for persons living on the south side of the river, and in the high school for north side residents.

Voting hours will be noon to 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 7.

Candidates may not withdraw from the race later than Monday, March 23.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from John Culley, school board secretary, no later than April 2 by mail, and no later than April 4, in person.

The election this year will be on a Tuesday for the first time. Last fall the school board voted the change from the second Saturday in April.

Demand Red Fighter Be Disciplined

U. S. Sends Note of Protest Over Attack On Weather Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today demanded that Russia discipline the Soviet jet fighter who attacked a U. S. weather reconnaissance plane last Sunday 25 miles off Kamchatka.

The State Department announced a protest has been delivered to the Moscow Foreign Office by the American Embassy.

The note asks measures to prevent a repetition of such an attack and "disciplinary action" against those responsible for Sunday's incident.

It has been made clear here that the U. S. Air Force will continue to fly its missions despite Russia's implied challenge to its use of air space over international waters of the North Pacific.

Mt. Morris Boy Fined for Beating; Cousin Is Held

OREGON—(Special)—Otis Horner, 17, Mt. Morris, one of four Ogle county youths involved in a beating dealt a 15-year-old Mt. Morris boy last Wednesday night, was fined $25 and costs today in justice court here.

His cousin, James Horner, 23, also of Mt. Morris, was bound over to county court for hearing April 1 on charges of contributing to delinquency of a minor and disorderly conduct.

Two Dismissed

Similar charges were dismissed at the justice hearing today against Richard Miller, 18, Mt. Morris, and Ted Peterson, 18, Leaf River, at request of State's Atty. Wayne Bettner.

Pleads Guilty

Otis Horner pleaded guilty to fighting with William Allenfort, 15, Mt. Morris, and was fined on charges of disorderly conduct. The beating sent Allenfort to Rochelle hospital with what were reported as minor injuries.

The fight reportedly occurred shortly before 11 p.m. last Wednesday a mile south of Mt. Morris as

UN Delegate Asks Reds Be 'Sincere'

U. S. Wants Premier Malenkov's Meaning Of Peace Defined

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States challenged Russia today to demonstrate in the current U. N. disarmament debate that Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov sincerely wants to settle world problems peacefully.

The challenge was made by U.S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross, who led off the disarmament discussions in the general assembly's 60-nation political committee. As he spoke, Soviet Delegate Georgi N. Zharubin listened intently.

At the outset, Gross said Soviet leaders have talked much about peace in the past few days. He added:

"I hope Prime Minister Malenkov's use of the word 'peace' is the same as the word is understood by the rest of the world."

At any rate, he said, if the Russians are sincere one of the first places they can show it is on the question of disarmament. He called on them for some indication that they are now ready to negotiate in good faith.

Gross put two questions to Zharubin:

1. Is this the time when the Soviet government is willing to discuss constructively the question of disarmament?

2. Is this the forum where the Soviet representative will negotiate with his colleagues on the question?

He said he was not demanding a quick answer.

Reviews Proposals

Gross then reviewed briefly the disarmament proposals put forward last year by the western powers and those offered by Russia. He warned that the United States would never agree to the flat one-third reduction of arms demanded by Russia and would not agree to any disarmament until a system of verification and inspection was set up.

He said Russia had rejected the western proposals for disclosure and verification of armed strength and, at the same time, had failed to explain their own "vague" proposals.

Gross said the United States did not pretend that the western plan represented the last word on the question, although all members of the disarmament commission except Russia were in agreement.

"Despite the Soviet attitude," Gross said, "we feel we have the responsibility to persevere in our efforts."

Bandits Get Half-Million In Gem Holdup

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Masked bandits ramrodded their way into a jewelry store on swank Lincoln Road Tuesday night and made off with $500,000 worth of diamonds.

Police called it the "hottest" holdup of the season.

Detective Sgt. R. P. Thompson said two men with handkerchiefs across their faces used a stout piece of lumber to batter down the rear door of the A. Taylor and Sons store.

Abe Taylor, owner of the store, his wife Lillian, and their son Bonald, working late, were hustled to the front of the building by three shots fired into the floor.

Then the men took two trays of diamonds and fled. Thompson said Taylor placed the loss at about $500,000.

Two Villages Plan Street Repairs

Special bond issue propositions for street improvements will come before voters of Ashton and Franklin Grove in the next two months. It has been revealed in the two villages.

Franklin Grove residents will be asked to approve a bond issue of $45,000 for resurfacing all streets in the village with a permanent material. The election will be held May 5.

At the regular village election April 21 in Ashton, a bond issue of $16,700 for a new street-lighting system will be voted on. The new lights would be installed in the three-block business district.

Ashton's present street-lighting system, installed in 1922, has developed mechanical difficulties and has been declared inadequate by the village board.

The proposed new system would consist of 20 mercury-vapor street lights beginning at the school house corner on Main street and extending three blocks through the business section to the E. G. Walters used car sales garage at the east end of Main street.

Thirty-foot steel poles with arm brackets would support the lights. Besides providing streets in Franklin Grove with a permanent surface, the proposed bond issue there also would finance construction of proper drainage for all streets in the village.

The streets would be maintained with motor fuel tax money, which amounts to $3,500 a year for the village.

Previously, Franklin Grove streets have been repaired with surface material of oil and sand.

Rural Ogle Beef Cattle, Swine Farms Toured by County Group

By GEORGE D. PERISHO
Farm Adviser

OREGON—Continued heavy marketing of cattle in February, coming on the heels of the second largest January slaughter in history, drove the average selling price of beef steers down to about $22 at the end of February, the lowest in four years at Chicago.

In spite of this, several brave cattlemen attend the Beef Cattle and Swine Management tour. The first stop at Grover Thomas' farm to inspect 50 head of heavyweight cattle. Grover explained the remodeling of his cattle barn. Formerly a horse barn with lots of stalls and supporting posts, now with the addition of a shed, all posts removed, it makes an ideal cattle feeding shed with plenty of room for using a manure loader mounted on a tractor. Feeding bunks were movable, and a large self-feeder was being used.

Dr. George T. Woods, extension veterinarian of the University of Illinois, answered many questions on beef cattle diseases. All county vets were invited to attend and participate in the discussion.

Some of the things of seemingly importance to the beef feeder are: Control of lice. Woods suggested spraying with lindane and BHC as the most effective method of controlling lice. Everyone present agreed it was worth a load of grain to get rid of lice.

If the cows are lousy select a decent day, the cold weather should be no limiting factor and spray. You may be concerned over the possibility of colds, if so, dust with DDT. However, dusting is far less effective. Plans for an automatic cattle sprayer are available at the Farm Bureau office and all beef and dairy farmers should find it worthwhile and labor-saving to install one on their farms.

Grubs on the beef cattle should be treated. Holes in the hides of the cattle will reduce their value and also cut down on the efficiency of the gains put on by the cattle.

Some mention was made of symptoms and treatment for X-disease, shipping fever, foot rot and leptospirosis. Also, suggestions for dehorning cattle and castration methods were brought into the management picture. Dr. Woods said without question, cattle bring enough money when sold to pay costs of dehorning the cattle, and preventing damage to important cuts of beef.

After a mid-afternoon lunch served through the hospitality of the Thomas family, the tour continued to the Don Stengel farm.

Don opened the discussion with some comments on his swine management practices. His use of heat lamps and infra bulbs has kept the temperature above 53 degrees on the coldest nights. This one feature is responsible for the high raised pig average he is able to maintain.

Another practice that one should keep in mind—strict sanitation at all times is more valuable as a disease preventive and is a lot less costly than all of the treatments one can receive. Don spoke of his cleaning the hog houses and scrubbing with Lysol before the sows were brought into the central farrowing house.

He also maintains this sanitation program to his pastures by rotating from year to year on three outstanding ladino-alfalfa pastures. The pasture mixture includes: One-half bushel of alfalfa and seven and a half pounds of ladino clover.

This year the ladino had crowded out most of the alfalfa and made wonderful hog pasture. Don figures this type of pasture was worth many dollars in the feed saved for his hogs.

Farrowing crates are used to prevent the sows from laying on the pigs. When the pigs are a week old they are taken from the sows and placed in a battery of feeders, where they are fed dry feed for three weeks. From these he takes the pigs to an old brooder house for "hardening" and getting ready to stand outside feeding conditions.

The selection of breeding stock is made on the basis of litter size, number of "dinner plates" per sow and weight of pigs at weaning time.

Dr. George Woods brought out some good management practices and mentioned some present hog troubles. Nutritional anemia is particularly prevalent in pigs that are farrowed in late fall, winter and early spring confined to floored pens without access to soil or vegetation. The disease may appear in young pigs two to seven weeks old. Iron tablets are very helpful in preventing this and is far more satisfactory than swabbing the sow's udder.

Rhinitis is a disease the baby pigs must pick up. Select all purchased breeding stock from clean herds and reputable swine raisers. Brucellosis can completely wipe out a hog raiser. Here again, insist on purchasing clean stock and blood test regularly.

VH disease has caused 19 outbreaks in Illinois and all but one of these on garbage-fed hogs. Since January 1, 1953, all garbage fed to hogs must be cooked. In most cases the users have found that they have less trouble with other diseases by using this additional sanitation precaution.

What about the use of antibiotics? Results at the Illinois experiment station have established that certain antibiotics will cause a 15 to 30 per cent increase in rate of gain in growing-fattening pigs during the early phase of feeding. And the incidence of scours and diarrhea is greatly reduced by feeding antibiotics.

Hog cholera is still a highly fatal and contagious disease of swine. Many outbreaks have been reported during the last year. As for vaccination, only healthy pigs should be vaccinated, and from the varied experiences of the Ogle county farmers with all types and makes of vaccines, only the modified vaccine given with a small amount of serum has given sufficiently satisfactory results, in attempting to replace serum-virus. The chief advantage is that they contain no live virus and the pigs stay on full feed so can gain faster than serum-virus treated pigs.

Woods mentioned the maintenance of a strict sanitation program, the rotation of the hog pastures and worming the sows before they are bred, will all help to prevent the pigs from becoming contaminated with worms. However, it is advisable to worm the pigs at 10 weeks of age by using sodium fluoride at the rate of one pound to 99 pounds of feed and giving all of this mixture that will be cleaned up in 24 hours.

Brief discussions of necro, erysipelas, and mange followed. Vaccination for erysipelas should be made by the time the pigs have reached 10 days of age if your farm is contaminated with this disease.

Hogs with mange will not do well and should be sprayed or scrubbed with crude oil or used crankcase oil. Lime-sulfur solution is also recommended.

Woods used seven points to summarize an anti-disease program for you: Use an adequate sanitation system, feed complete and balanced rations, control hog cholera by routine immunization, prevent swine erysipelas, do not buy diseased feeder pigs and breeding stock, provide adequate space and equipment, and isolate newly purchased animals for at least 30 days.

Charles Roodhouse, fieldman for Farm Bureau-Farm Management attended the tour, and we are certainly appreciative of the time and inconveniences taken by the two farmers to permit this tour at their farms.

Charles B. Shuman, IAA Head, To Speak in Rochelle on Tuesday

'Farm Night' Sponsored by Rotary Club

ROCHELLE—The Rotary club of Rochelle has made arrangements for a Farmers' guest night to be held at the Rochelle high school gym Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The speaker will be Charles B. Shuman, president of the Illinois agricultural association, whose topic will be "Agriculture's Stake in the Future." The public may attend.

Shuman is also a member of the American Farm Bureau federation board of directors and is a stock and grain farmer of near Sullivan, Ill.

He was born on a farm near Sullivan and attended rural school in that neighborhood before graduating from Sullivan high school in 1924.

Since graduation from college in 1928, he has been active in farm bureau, cooperative and community affairs. He has served as a director of his county farm bureau and as its president.

He was elected to the IAA board of directors in 1941 and was named president of the IAA in November, 1945, when Earl C. Smith retired.

Daughters Win Over Moms in Culinary Tests

FRANKLIN GROVE—More than 150 enjoyed the box social sponsored by the Franklin Grove P.T.A. recently in the Kersten gym. Supt. Roy Dillon, serving as master of ceremonies, announced the evening's program and activities.

Miss Hall presented a mixed chorus from the high school who sang two numbers. The group was then entertained by Joe Daurer, magician and ventriloquist, of DeKalb. Joe's little boy, Joey, also helped in entertaining.

"Rube" Callison gave two vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Russell Group at the piano.

Colonel Guy Willard auctioned the boxes.

The daughters won the contest, according to the number of boxes.

The proceeds of the evening will be used to finance P.T.A. projects.

Solely for the journalistic purpose of proving that Drew Pearson advocated an officer's commission in our army for John Gates, who is now in prison for trying to overthrow the government of this nation, I present verified facts.

During the war Pearson used his "column," and some publishers permitted him to impose on their local readers, to demand commissions for many Communists without disclosing the fact that they were Communists. I could prove numerous instances but I will confine this piece to the Gates case because Gates was, at the time of the long and exhausting trial before Judge Medina in New York, the absolute top man in the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

On April 14, 1943, the Washington Post published Pearson's column including the following:

"Approximately one year ago, John Gates, a Lieutenant-Colonel of the Fifteenth International Brigade in Spain, enlisted in the United States army. In Spain, Vincent Sheehan and Herbert Matthews of the New York Times cabled back dispatches on his bravery. In the United States army he joined the 59th Armored Artillery battalion, Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he became a sergeant. Then, as his unit was about to go overseas, his commander received a telegram from the adjutant general in Washington, ordering Gates transferred to a service unit—which means no combat service throughout the war.

"No explanation was given. Two lieutenant-colonels thought so much of Gates that they intervened. But nothing happened. There was only mysterious silence in Washington. Finally Gates sent a letter to President Roosevelt.

"There is no greater honor," he wrote, "than to fight for one's country. Am I so base that I should be denied that right? What better way to prove one's loyalty than on the field of battle?"

"I am supremely confident that if the board of officers were to review the case, or a special investigating officer appointed, the recommendation would be to return to my former unit. Our men are fighting gloriously in Africa and the Pacific. I only ask to take my place alongside them."

"But the letter got no further than the War department. No board of review was appointed. Apparently Gates had committed the unforgivable crime of fighting for loyalist Spain.

"This is only one of many cases." Pearson went on to deal in particular with other cases but without the slightest intimation to the client editors who trusted him as an honest correspondent that he was pleading for commissions for men committed to a shooting revolution against the government of the United States.

After the dismissal of Earl Browder by orders from the Kremlin, Gates had become one of the supreme Communist authorities in the United States. When the historic trial of the top batch of eleven Communist leaders began in New York, Gates was the editor of the Daily Worker. All eleven were sentenced to prison. Gates got five years for "advocating and conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence." In the trial he said he would never fight for the United States against Russia.

The importance which the Communists placed on penetration of the American fighting forces is disclosed in testimony given by Paul Crouch, a reformed Communist, to the house committee on un-American activities on May 6, 1949.

Crouch had served as head of a Communist party department "for the armed forces" and, in that role, had received instructions from Moscow to organize nuclei of Communists in our armed forces so as to exploit petty grievances and

Crouch testified that a Washington columnist wrote two or three articles of "the sharpest criticism of the war department for failing to take advantage of the ability of a man like Howard Lee." He said Lee was a Communist. The name of the columnist was deleted from the record.

A few days ago, in tune with a propaganda which Pearson has been waging to shake off his pro-Communist record, he gave himself credit for a heavy blow against Communism in the Iron Curtain countries. He did this by sending notes across the line attached to toy balloons.

Pearson had one so-called "legman" who had been a writer for the Daily Worker in New York and another who was an outright party member in Washington at the time Pearson employed him.

Times Call for Constructive Approach to Trade Problems

Before too many weeks the halls of congress will be ringing with debate on one of the touchiest yet most crucial problems we have to face: whether we intend to allow the lowering of our tariff barriers sufficiently to encourage greater imports from trade-starved European nations.

For more than three decades, Europe has not been able to sell to us as much as we have sold to it. After World War I this gap was bridged by private American loans abroad. Since World War II the Marshall Plan and other aids have served the same end.

But neither of these devices were solutions, nor were they permanent. Eventually, the private loans stopped. And today, the patience of congress with seemingly perpetual foreign aid is wearing thin.

The only real answer appears to be somehow to balance trade between America and Europe. Our statesmen and all but a minority of business leaders agree on that. And in the interest of a higher general standard of living, the balance ought to be struck by increasing European imports here rather than cutting our exports.

That means, however, reducing tariff barriers on a considerably broader scale than has yet been accomplished under the now long-established reciprocal trade authority (up for renewal June 12). And there's the rub.

For the argument is made perennially that American industries will suffer ruinously from the influx of foreign goods produced by low-paid workers.

Although the argument is usually greatly exaggerated, it is true that some industries have been and would be seriously affected by heightened foreign competition. Yet if we do not find some way to accept foreign goods, the alternative is some sort of foreign aid to keep our European friends from going broke.

Some manufacturers, reading this dilemma aright, have stopped complaining about foreign competition and have moved boldly to counter its effects. One such is J. H. Shennan, young president of the Elgin Watch company.

U. S. watchmakers have suffered a lot from imported watch products, especially from Switzerland. Some firms have been put out of business. But not Elgin.

Once defeat was clear, Shennan set about diversifying his company's operations so it would no longer be wholly dependent on watchmaking. He took the firm into production of compacts, men's jewelry, abrasives and other items. Thus Elgin's workers and stockholders are protected and America still has in being an important element in a vital precision industry valuable to its defense.

Obviously all industries cannot follow Shennan's specific pattern, admirable as it is. But all can indeed emulate this company's resourcefulness and imagination in seeking adjustment to the prospect of increased imports. Where a company or an industry is clearly beyond self-help, the government might fairly be asked to step in and assist through loans, the teaching of new worker skills, and the like.

The time for mere nagging opposition has gone by. The times call for a constructive approach. It is either that or a never-ending burden of foreign aid.

Link Between Wars

Since the purpose of Gen. Mark Clark's visit to Indo-China has not been divulged, speculation is our only guide. Possibly the action presages closer coordination between the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars.

Lending support to that notion was the earlier visit to Korea and Japan of Marshal Juin, France's ranking soldier. One developing idea in the Eisenhower foreign policy is heavier future reliance upon native troops in both war theatres, so French and American forces, as well as other UN units, may be pulled back into a mobile reserve. The French are considerably behind us, however, in the training of Asiatic forces, and may now be seeking to model their training program on our South Korean example.

Whether coordination goes only this far or reaches into wider military fields, it would be welcome news. For Korea and Indo-China are in fact simply two fronts in the same war, and they ought to be treated that way.

Courage Is Aid in Bridge Tourney

By OSWALD JACOBY

The approach of the Eastern States championships, which begin this weekend, brings back a host of memories to most bridge players in the East. The tournament, one of the oldest in the history of contract bridge, has always attracted a strong field from all sections of the country as well as from the Eastern states.

I remember the hand shown today very clearly, because it cost me first place in the Eastern championships of 1932. Charlie Lochridge, sitting East, opened with a psychic bid of one club, and his partner, Johnny Rau, made an out-of-turn bid of two no-trump.

Johnny corrected his error by jumping to three no-trump, and this strange contract arrived at in so fantastic a manner, could not be defeated.

Elephants have short memories compared to bridge experts. After 21 years I still remember every card in the hand, and I could still cheerfully murder my good friends Lochridge and Rau whenever I think of the hand.

At many other tables, the hand was played at a normal contract of four spades. South won the opening diamond lead, cashed his remaining high diamonds, and led a low trump towards dummy's jack. At some tables, West timidly put up the queen of spades. West could still save the day by laying down the ace of clubs and continuing that suit, but this defense was never actually found. The West player usually took the queen of spades and shifted to hearts.

Now South could take the king of hearts, get to dummy with the jack of spades, and get two discards on dummy's diamonds to make sure of his game. Strangely enough, at those tables where the West player was courageous enough to play low on the first round of trumps, the game contract was easily defeated even though West lost his queen of spades.

At these tables, dummy was able to win the first round of trumps with the jack. If a diamond was immediately returned from dummy. East still had a trump and could ruff. South did not have to lose a trump, trick, but he could not use dummy's diamonds and therefore had to lose three hearts and a club eventually.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West
1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass
3 Spades Pass ?
You, South, hold: Spades K-J-7-5-3, Heart 4, Diamonds J-3-2, Clubs 7-6-3-2. What do you do?

A—Pass. You have a somewhat doubtful response to the opening bid, and you should accept no invitation to game. If there is a good play for game, the chances are that North could have jumped all the way to four spades instead of only to three spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-7-5-3, Hearts 6-3-2, Diamond 4, Clubs Q-6-3-2. What do you do?

Buttons on the back of men's formal clothes are an 18th century heritage. Gentlemen on horseback used them to fasten back coats-tails.

In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—Exclusively Yours: Fabulous Gloria Swanson is abdicating as a big-screen movie star in favor of television emoting and writing a book about "the rise and fall of an illusion known as Gloria Swanson."

"I doubt if I'll ever do another movie," 54-year-old Gloria confided on the set of "The Last Duchess," one of a series of 26 Crown Theater half-hour telefilms in which she's acting, narrating and playing tenebrous for Bing Crosby Enterprises.

"I'll never be able to top 'Sunset Boulevard,'" she explained. "It was a once-in-a-lifetime thing. I tried a comedy after that and it was compared to 'Sunset.' It wasn't fair. I took 'Sudden Fear' to Paramount. No one was interested. Now I'm no longer interested in Hollywood stardom."

She completes the Crown Theater series for Director Harvey Frost next month and "then I'm going to lock myself in my New York apartment and write about a woman named Gloria Swanson. But this Gloria isn't me—she's an illusion created by Hollywood."

Burt Lancaster is giving fan magazine scribes a bad time with his refusal to be interviewed. . . . John Boles just opened a big electronics plant in LA and is on his way to another million. . . . The Gene Evans-Patty Powers marriage is no longer scheduled and chances are that it will never come off. . . . To avoid criticism from church groups, Columbia is changing the classic Reverend Davidson character in "Miss Sadie Thompson," the musicalized version of "Rain," to plan Mr. Thompson, a professional reformer.

EASY MONEY

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz just signed another nothing-but-money contract. This time to be featured in the first 3-D magazine ever published. Readers will view Lucy and Desi through polaroid glasses.

MGM bosses look puzzled over Mario Lanza's claims that the studio will let him star in "Carnegie" and "The Vagabond King." MGM doesn't own either property.

Ouch, the things that Hollywood's learning about 3-D! Now comes the 3-D gangster and he can't be dressed in the traditional blue suit with big white stripes that has been standard for mobsters since the days of Eddie Robinson in "Little Caesar."

Columbia fitted an actor in their deplie, "The Man Who Lived Twice," in the accepted gangster costume for a wardrobe test. Now he's wearing a plain black suit. The stripes came right out in the middle of the audience!

All hair restorers having failed, Frank Sinatra has now taken to wearings hats. . . . Errol Flynn's doctors in Rome have barred all liquor because of his yellow jaundice. . . . Movieland attorney Greg Bautzer and Mari Blanchard have postponed the altar march. . . . Hal Wallis saw Benny Rubin's new comedy act in San Diego and now they're talking a movie deal.

GLAMOR FOR MET STAR

Producer Sam Spiegel will attempt a glamor campaign for Met Opera star Patricia Munsell to help sell his production of "Melba." Munsell, who is a looker, is reported ready for more movie roles.

Men Readers Now Peruse

Newspaper Ladies' Page

Recently I sat in on a seminar of woman's page editors. What interested me most in their discussions was the growing interest of men readers in topics which in the past have been aimed chiefly at women.

Gardening, cooking (particularly outdoor cooking and entertaining), interior decoration, all these are appealing to more and more men readers.

That is good news. For it is an indication that men are growing more, rather than less, interested in their homes.

And if Papa is interested in gardening, in food, in such phases of practical interior decoration as handling a paint brush, the whole family is going to be more interested in the home.

Homemaking shouldn't be a woman's job alone. It is when a whole family is interested in fixing up a house, entertaining, experimenting with food, gardening, etc., that a family has the most fun and a home means the most to all its occupants.

FATHER'S INTEREST BOOMS THE OUT-OF-DOORS

The real reason why out-of-doors entertaining has become so popular during the last few years is because Papa got interested in it. He might not want to be caught in the kitchen whipping up a sauce but he wasn't a bit ashamed of acting as head man at the outdoor barbecue pit.

The real reason why we are fast becoming a nation of weekend painters is because Mama has been able to interest the man of the house in what miracles can be wrought with a bucket of paint.

The reason why our towns and cities boast so many beautiful yards is because Papa is becoming as interested in gardening as the woman of the house.

So anything the women's pages can do to interest men in their homes is all to the good. Homemaking is not a lonely and unrelenting job to a woman if her husband is as interested in their home as she is.

Carol Strub, Homer Frey Wed in March

When Miss Carol Strub became the bride of Homer Frey she wore a powder blue street length dress. Miss Strub, daughter of the Edgar Strubs, Dixon, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jacob, Rock Falls, were wed the afternoon of March 8, in the Christian church, Rock Falls.

With her pretty blue dress the bride wore a white hat and corsage of pink carnations. Her attendant, Miss Muriel Strub, Dixon, her sister, wore a blue taffeta dress with a grey hat and white carnation corsage. Arden Strub, Dixon, brother of the bride, also attended the couple.

The bride's mother selected a black silk dress with matching hat for the single ring ceremony and the bridegroom's mother was wearing a gray suit with green hat.

Church Reception
A small reception was held in the church basement where the table was centered with a two tiered cake. Mesdames Artemus Pulford, and Jess German, Rock Falls, aunts of the bride, were in charge of the reception.

The newlyweds will reside on Rt. 3, Dixon. The bridegroom is employed at Dixon State hospital.

Dixon Players Give Dates of Spring Show

The monthly meeting of the Dixon Community Players was held March 12 in Loveland Community House. The business meeting was conducted by president, Neva Heckman.

Highlighting this meeting was the announcement of the next production, "Years Ago," to be presented May 6 and 7, in Loveland Community House. This play will be presented by the Community Players and will be sponsored by the Catholic Women's Club.

"Years Ago" will be directed by Patsy Oakes, assisted by Frankie Cline. The director announced that try-outs for this production will be held at 7:30 p. m. March 24 and 25, in Loveland Community House. The public is cordially invited to attend these try-outs, as casting is not limited to members of the Community Players.

The next monthly meeting will be April 9. Election of new officers will be held at this meeting and the nominating committee has been appointed. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

After the business meeting the members enjoyed a social hour and discussed details for the coming play.

Refreshments were served by Patsy Oakes and Neva Heckman.

Baptist Circle II Has Supper, Meet

Circle II of the Women's Fellowship of the First Baptist church met recently in the home of Mrs. Paul Mondlock. Mrs. Arthur Toland was assisting hostess. A beautifully decorated birthday cake in honor of the "Copper Syndicate Birthday Party" centered the table for the scramble supper. At this time each member brought birthday money which will be sent to the Baptist training school scholarship fund.

With Mrs. Arthur Vinz at the piano, several hymns were sung. Miss Jean Sitter gave the devotions using as her theme, "Gethsemane." Mrs. Charles Wallace gave the first two chapters in the home study book. Mrs. Charles Brainerd announced that at a later date the circle will do cancer dressings for the Red Cross.

A farewell gift was presented Mrs. Walter Rice who is leaving Dixon.

Burnt Sugar Is Favorite Cake

Recipe Honors Cpl. W. P. Lohse Of Fort Riley

A birthday tradition of long standing was carried on in the Henry Lohse home, 817 North Jefferson av., St. Patrick's day even though the honoree, Cpl. Walter P. Lohse wasn't home to take part. Burnt sugar cake, Walt's favorite, was baked by his mother who shares her popular recipe with Dixon Evening Telegraph readers. Cpl. Lohse spent his 21st birthday at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he is first cook for the 10th Division, Company C, 85th Inf. Regt. however a portion of the delicious cake was sent to him.

Taking advantage of the holiday upon which the birthday falls, Mrs. Lohse uses the St. Patrick's color in decoration of the cake. (Editor's Note.) This tasty birthday cake can be decorated appropriate to the season in which it occurs.

Burnt Sugar Cake

Make syrup:
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup scalded milk
Into a heavy frying pan over moderate heat place the sugar. Allow sugar to melt and become amber colored. Stir and do not let sugar burn. Remove from heat. Carefully add this caramel syrup to scalded milk and place in double boiler. Stir until caramel is dissolved. Measure the caramel milk and add enough cold milk to make one full cup. Let cool to room temperature.

Cake Ingredients
½ cup vegetable shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¾ cups sifted cake flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup caramel syrup
Blend shortening, sugar, vanilla and salt, adding the sugar gradually. Add eggs one at a time beating well. Sift flour and baking powder.
Add some flour to egg mixture, then some milk. Continue until all is incorporated. Bake in two eight inch pans at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes.

Caramel Frosting
1½ cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup granulated sugar
¾ teas. salt
¾ cup top milk
1 tablespoon vegetable shortening
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon cream
½ cup nuts, cut
Combine sugars, milk, shortening and butter in saucepan and bring to a boil. Stir this constantly until sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly keeping crystals washed down from sides of pan.

When small amount forms a soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F) remove spoon and set pan aside to cool.
Do not move pan until mixture is like warm (110 degrees F). Beat until mixture thickens. Add cream and beat until thick enough to spread. Add nuts.

City Receives Bids For Street Flusher

Bids were received at a meeting of the Dixon city council Tuesday night for a new street flusher and truck chassis to replace present antiquated equipment.

Five bids were submitted by Lee county firms on the two separate pieces of equipment.

Three bids were received to supply the city with a truck chassis on which to mount the street flusher. Two bids were made on the flusher.

On the truck chassis, bids ranged from $5,112.85 to $4,137.24. The two bids on the street flusher ranged from $4,284 to $3,836.47. Exact totals on the bids will be determined by the council when excise tax costs are taken into consideration.

Cut Food Allowance for Those on State Public Aid

Lee county recipients of public assistance will receive slightly less for food allowances in April as a result of a decline in food prices in 97 Illinois counties.

Instead of receiving the current budget price for food in the amount of $80.69 for a month's supply of food for an index family of four, such recipients will be allowed $75.39, a reduction of 5.9 per cent.

Ogle and Whiteside counties are also among those who will be included in the allowance cut.

Ogle county is receiving $82.17 for a month's supply of food for an index family. In April, recipients will get $78.89, or four per cent less.

Whiteside county is currently getting $82.26 for an index family. The allowance will be cut to $77.16, or a reduction of 6.2 per cent per family.

The statewide survey was conducted during the week ended Feb. 21. The adjustment in food allowances to recipients will be restricted to those counties where the survey showed a change of two per cent or greater in food prices.

According to Garrett W. Keaster, executive secretary of the Illinois Public Aid commission, 75 counties will be affected on that basis, including Lee county.

In 22 other counties, food prices dropped less than two per cent. In the five remaining counties prices increased, but the rise was less than one per cent.

The increased prices occurred in Jasper, Rock Island, Henderson, Warren, and Hardin counties.

The last previous survey conducted by the commission's staff took place in October, 1952.

JAMES A. PETTENGER, airman third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Pettenger, Willett avenue, is spending a 15-day furlough in his home. Pettenger was employed in Borden Milk Co. before enlisting in the air force in February, 1952. He received basic training at Lackland air base, San Antonio. After graduation from basic weapons school at Lowry air base, Denver, he was sent to Scott field, Ill. Pettenger has been in the 85th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Scott field since September, 1952. After his furlough, Pettenger will report to Camp Stoneman, Calif., for overseas assignment.

Dixon Airman On Carrier in Far East Waters

FAR EAST (FHTNC)—Serving with Fighter Squadron 781, recently redesignated Fighter Squadron 121, aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany is Richard C. Greenfield, aviation structural mechanic airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Greenfield of 722 Dement av., Dixon.

The squadron is on its second tour of duty in the Korean theater. Operating from the Bon Homme Richard and the Oriskany, the squadron flew 1,945 sorties on the first tour without the loss of a pilot and now, still casually free, they are bent on breaking that record.

They participated in the navy's first dogfight with the MIG-15 and shot down two of the enemy planes and damaged two more.

Fighter Squadron 781 flew in the northernmost strike in Korea, which was also the navy's largest carrier mission.

Search River

OTTAWA, Ill.—LaSalle county authorities were searching Tuesday along the Fox river for an elderly man who has been missing since Monday night from a rest home near the river.

Sheriff Clayton Harbeck of LaSalle county said Karl P. Kleinhart, 74, of Chicago is missing from the rest home, located eight miles north of Ottawa.

Rural Firemen To Grass Fire

Rural firemen answered a grass fire alarm at the Elizabeth Metzler farm, Rt. 1, Dixon, Tuesday, at 5:30 p. m.

According to Rural Fire Chief Alvin Sheely, the fire started while one of the Metzler family was burning grass in the rear of the farm home.

The fire was well under control until a gust of wind came up and caused the blaze to run wild. There was no damage done. No one was injured.

Phase of Red Cross Nursing Course Ends, Another Begins

While the American Red Cross drive for funds has reached the midway point, four women yesterday wound up a course in home nursing instruction and today they will teach two courses in home nursing one from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. and the other from 7-9 p. m.

The courses will be held in the Dixon high school cafeteria and the instructors are: Mrs. Theresa R. McMahon, RN, supervising nurse at the Lee County health department; Mrs. Hazel Miller, RN, public health nurse at the Lee county health center, Mrs. Helen Pilgrim, Sterling; and Mrs. Wayne Wolfe, Junior Red Cross chairman.

These four women received their instructions from Mrs. Anne Jenkins, RN, from the St. Louis Midwestern office of the American Red Cross who was sent as a special trainer.

Drive Continues

The Red Cross drive for funds continues through the end of the month and among the programs sponsored through these funds is free swimming instructions for the children.

In Lee county nearly 2,000 children of all ages registered for swimming lessons under the Red Cross program last summer with large groups coming from Amboy, Polo, Peck Home and Nachusa.

In addition to the three regular courses of beginner, intermediate and swimmer, junior life saving and senior life saving instructions were offered at the Dixon Memorial pool where classes are held.

The entire cost of this swimming and water safety program is over $12,000 for the 10 week session, a cost borne by the local chapter.

Need Instructors

The need for more instructors is great which in turn means an increased need for funds. Last year, two representatives from Lee county were sent to the National Aquatic school for training as instructors.

Dixon JC Traffic Safety Program Set for April

The 1953 Dixon Jaycee Traffic Safety campaign will be conducted April 1-15, inclusive, Chairman Charles Farrington has announced. This campaign won the National Sweepstakes project award for the local Jaycees at their national convention in 1952.

Opening project in this year's campaign is the traffic safety motto to contest being sponsored for the local school children through the eighth grade, Farrington stated, adding that all mottoes submitted for competition must be turned in to school principals no later than this Friday, March 20. Application blanks and rules for this contest have been posted in all Dixon elementary schools.

Phase of Red Cross Nursing Course Ends, Another Begins

While the American Red Cross drive for funds has reached the midway point, four women yesterday wound up a course in home nursing instruction and today they will teach two courses in home nursing one from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. and the other from 7-9 p. m.

The courses will be held in the Dixon high school cafeteria and the instructors are: Mrs. Theresa R. McMahon, RN, supervising nurse at the Lee County health department; Mrs. Hazel Miller, RN, public health nurse at the Lee county health center, Mrs. Helen Pilgrim, Sterling; and Mrs. Wayne Wolfe, Junior Red Cross chairman.

These four women received their instructions from Mrs. Anne Jenkins, RN, from the St. Louis Midwestern office of the American Red Cross who was sent as a special trainer.

Drive Continues

The Red Cross drive for funds continues through the end of the month and among the programs sponsored through these funds is free swimming instructions for the children.

In Lee county nearly 2,000 children of all ages registered for swimming lessons under the Red Cross program last summer with large groups coming from Amboy, Polo, Peck Home and Nachusa.

In addition to the three regular courses of beginner, intermediate and swimmer, junior life saving and senior life saving instructions were offered at the Dixon Memorial pool where classes are held.

The entire cost of this swimming and water safety program is over $12,000 for the 10 week session, a cost borne by the local chapter.

Need Instructors

The need for more instructors is great which in turn means an increased need for funds. Last year, two representatives from Lee county were sent to the National Aquatic school for training as instructors.

First prize in the traffic safety motto competition will be a $10 cash award, with 15 runners-up to receive free theater tickets.

The second phase of the campaign will consist of a trip to the State Police barracks at Sterling on Saturday, March 28, for 80 selected grade school children. This particular activity was conducted successfully last year, as well, and proved to be a popular experience for the children who made the trip.

U. S. Presses Reds to Pay For Plane

WASHINGTON—The United States is pressing a $637,894 claim against Russia and Communist Hungary for the seizure of four American fliers and their plane 16 months ago—but prospects of collecting are dim.

The claim was filed Tuesday in notes delivered in Moscow and Budapest. Unless Russia or Hungary should unexpectedly pay, the U. S. proposes to take the case to the International Court. If Russia and Hungary refuse to go along with this idea, the next prospect is for some action by the United Nations' general assembly.

The U. S. charged the American fliers were duped into landing behind the Iron Curtain at a time when they were lost on a legitimate, routine flight and were sending out distress signals by radio. Soviet jets guided the U. S. plane to a landing in Hungary and it was six weeks later that the men were released from captivity after the U. S. government, under protest, paid a $123,605 ransom "fine."

The plane, a C-47 cargo craft, was kept by Hungary, despite American attempts to repossess it. The fliers were released Dec. 28, 1951.

Begin Work On Chicago Parking Area

CHICAGO (U-P)—Michigan Avenue is being turned into a hole in the ground.

Chattering pneumatic hammers bit into the pavement of one of the world's most famous streets today, and chuffing scoop shovels dug huge divots of dirt.

Only a three-block section, from Randolph to Monroe, is being torn up. And the defacement is only temporary—if you can stretch the term to cover a nine-month period.

Space For Cars
The digging is being done for the city's first underground garage. Parking space for 2,359 cars will be provided under the boulevard and adjacent Grant Park.

Meanwhile "Boul Mich," from the Chicago Public Library to a point near the Chicago Art Institute, will look like a garbage dump.

The smartly groomed people who operate the swank shops along the avenue take a dim view of the project.

"We don't like it," one merchant told a newsmen. "We had to have the window caulked to keep out the dust."

He said it had cut down on "impulse" trade—such as strollers who were snitten by, say, a $6.50 tie on view in the window.

Divert Traffic
Automobile and bus traffic has been diverted into a bypass.

The first thing that was removed from the path of progress was the peristyle at the north end of Grant Park. Folks used to stand in the shade of the classic columns and feed the pigeons.

A reporter asked the Chicago park district what had happened to the pigeons.

"They went back to the library," a spokesman said. "They are very erudite pigeons."

The library confirmed that the pigeons were back, but said that "erudite" wasn't the word for them.

Forecasters Give 30-Day Outlook For Weather

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Here is how the Weather Bureau sums up weather prospects for the month ahead:

"The 30-day outlook for the period from mid-March to mid-April calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals west of the Mississippi, except for near normal along the West Coast. Eastern portions of the nation are expected to average near normal with the exception of below normal in the vicinity of the Great Lakes.

"Rainfall is expected to exceed normal for the Ohio Valley eastward through the Middle and North Atlantic States, and also along the West Coast. Elsewhere about seasonally normal amounts are indicated except for some deficiency in the Northern Plains and over the Southwest."

U. S. to Deport Alien Commies

NEW YORK (U-P)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. says nearly 22,000 foreign-born residents of the United States are under investigation for possible Communist links.

He adds that they will be subject to eventual deportation "where evidence is found that they have violated our immigration and nationality laws."

The widening inquiries are part of a campaign to rid the nation of subversives, Brownell told the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at a dinner Tuesday night.

"It's a job worthy of a modern-day St. Patrick to drive these snakes from our shores," the attorney general declared.

Titian, the artist, obtained inspiration from a bunch of grapes he kept hanging in his studio as an example of beauty of form and line.

Single Primary Ballot Is Sidetracked in House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(U-P)—A bill to do away with the need for a citizen to declare his politics when voting in a primary election has been killed in the Illinois House.

Its sponsor, Rep. G. William Horsley (R-Springfield), acknowledged the demise of the measure Tuesday after the House elections committee voted 25 to 1 to pigeon-hole it indefinitely.

The opposition attack was led by Reps. Reed F. Cutler (R-Lewisville) and Carl Prehls (D-Pana), who called it a "bootleg" measure. "I'm a Presbyterian," Prehls told the committee. "I'm not ashamed of it. I hold my religion as I do my politics, and I don't see why anybody should be ashamed to identify his party." Cutler said the bill would "wreck the two party system" and lead to vote frauds.

Other Action
In other General Assembly committee action Tuesday:

1. The House Judiciary Committee okayed a Senate-approved bill that would give two conflicting statements given under oath grounds for a perjury indictment without the need of proving either false.

2. The same group endorsed a second bill, also passed by the Senate, providing that a court may grant a key witness immunity from prosecution in exchange for his testimony in a criminal case.

3. The House Appropriations Committee referred to a subcommittee for study a Senate-approved $100,000 deficiency appropriation to the Illinois coal products commission to cover funds already spent on a project to develop new markets for low grade Southern Illinois coal. Some committee members expressed disapproval of the commission's spending practices.

Housing Bill
4. The Senate efficiency and economy committee opened hearings, but took no action, on a bill to require referendum approval by voters within a two mile radius before a new or enlarged public housing project could be undertaken. Opposition witnesses said Tuesday the bill would wreck public housing.

A spokesman at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., said the tangled wreckage found in the field had been identified as the engine lost by the bomber during its training flight.

Witzlebs Buy Plum Hollow Golf Course

Daschbachs Sell Club to Dixon Pair

To Take Control April 1; Plan Early Opening, Repairs

Plum Hollow golf course has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Witzleb, 845 North Dixon Ave., Dixon, it was announced this morning by Mrs. Frank Daschbach, Sr., former owner. The course is located one mile north of Dixon on Route 26.

The nine-hole course, often considered one of the sportiest in Northern Illinois, has been owned by the Daschbach family since 1947, when they secured it from Ned Giannoni. Witzleb, who has been well known in golfing circles for many years, stated today that he will make every effort to inaugurate a continuous program of improvement. Repairs will be started early in April on various greens and the fairways and roughs also will undergo reconditioning.

He stated that the clubhouse will be renovated and an early opening date is anticipated.

Incorporated in 1928 Mrs. Witzleb, who is the former Rose Bevilacqua, is planning extensive expansion in the food facilities in the clubhouse and it is expected that regular meals will be available for members and their guests.

Plum Hollow golf club was formed more than a quarter to a century ago and was incorporated in 1928 by Joseph F. Villiger, John A. Krug, Ray Clinite, Harry H. Beard and Paul J. Moerschbacher.

Many improvements in the local course came under the ownership of Frank Randall, who secured the property in 1942. Under his operation, grass greens were replaced by grass greens and a new clubhouse was built. This was later extended by Mr. and Mrs. Daschbach.

Full Facilities Randall also piped water throughout the course, changed the location of greens and improved the fairways.

While the club was under the ownership and direction of Mr. and Mrs. Daschbach and their son, Frank Jr., the improvement program was continued and today the members have all the facilities for good golfing and recreation. Complete locker-rooms with showers are available as well as a dining room and refreshment lounge. The clubhouse building also includes a sun deck and a screened in porch.

Open to Public

In discussing the sale today, Mr. and Mrs. Witzleb expressed a desire to meet the members of the club and extended an invitation to all golfers to pay them a visit at the club in early April. The general public can play at Plum Hollow and use all the facilities on a green fee basis.

The sale transaction was conducted in the offices of Elwin S. Wadsworth, attorney, and the new owners will take over active ownership April 1.

Former Champion Seeks All-Events Lead in ABC Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Dick Hoover, former national individual match game bowling champion, today will attempt to wrest away the ABC all-events lead from Freddie Buja of Detroit, who has 1970.

Hoover, of Akron, O., put himself in a position Tuesday night to overtake the Detroit bowler by blasting out a 722 in the team event. He powered Akron's J-Dapier Spout Co. to a 3102 series, which earned a tie for third place with the Detroit Stros.

Hoover needs a 1249 in both the doubles and singles this afternoon to move ahead. He'll team with Gilbert Smith in the tandem event. Their doubles target is 1335, also jointly owned by Buja and Don Carter, the current national individual match game champion.

If Hoover has any designs on the singles lead, he'll have to overtake John Muth Jr. of Milwaukee, who has 727.

Outside of Hoover's team failing in its bid for the lead, there were no other changes among the leaders. The Ohio team had games of 955, 1062 and 1085.

The Akronites might have projected themselves into the No. 1 spot if their No. 4 shooter, Elzie Diefenderfer, hadn't encountered bad luck in his series. He was low scorer with 493. He ran in three rails and committed five errors, three of these coming in an anemic 133 opener. His other games were 186-169.

Two Tilts Open Tournery Tonight

Unbeaten LaGrange Faces DuSable; Canton Meets St. Teresa in Toss-Up

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—(AP)—Two attractive games tonight open the big show of Illinois prep athletics that will be climaxed Saturday with the naming of a new state basketball champion.

Fans jamming Huff Gym will see unbeaten LaGrange, No. 1 title choice among the 16 finalists, take on an underdog challenger from DuSable of Chicago in the first contest.

The second match, regarded as a tossup, sends Canton against St. Teresa of Decatur, second smallest school in the field.

Although LaGrange rates the inside track for the cage throne vacated by Hebron, a lot of support has swung behind the talented and experienced club from Pinckneyville, piloted by the same coach, Merrill Thomas, who won in 1948.

Six Tilts Thursday
Rock Island, Ottawa and Peoria Central are ranked as the next strongest contenders, with the rest of the entries classed in the long-shot category.

Six contests Thursday starting at 10 a.m. and ending around 11 p.m., will complete the first round and advance the eight survivors to Friday's quarterfinals. The semifinals are set for Saturday afternoon, and then the title match Saturday night.

In its opening test against DuSable, LaGrange clashes with a team heralded as the fanciest ball handling and dribbling to hit the tournament in recent years. The all-Negro Chicago outfit is led by Paxton Lumpkin, 5-10 guard, usually good for a dazzling exhibition.

Lacks Height
But the big drawback for DuSable is lack of height against an opponent that has a towering front line paced by Ted Caiazza, 6-7 center who is a tremendous scorer and rebounder.

Victories by LaGrange and Pinckneyville in their first two tilts would set the stage for a semifinal collision between these two kingpins on Saturday.

In the other bracket, either Ottawa or Rock Island, who play a first round engagement Thursday, and Peoria Central are favored to reach the semifinals.

No Tickets
Tickets for the four day spectacle weren't to be found. Most of the duclats for the 6,905 seats in the University of Illinois gym were allocated to the schools represented in the finals and other high school people. As customary, there was no public sale.

An innovation this year will permit 1,000 fans at each of the eight sessions to watch the schoolboy stars on a closed television circuit in the West Great Hall of Memorial Stadium.

Coaches Ask Rule Stripping Bevo of Crown

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The NCAA rules committee meets today to act on a basketball coach's recommendation which would strip Clarence (Bevo) Francis of his all-time scoring record.

In a move admittedly aimed at the Rio Grande Ohio college sensation who averaged 50 points a game, the National Association of Basketball Coaches Monday urged the NCAA to do this:

Restrict retroactively all official team and individual records to games involving four-year, degree-giving colleges.

A committee headed by Howard Hobson of Yale said the idea is to eliminate what it called "ridiculous" scoring records.

Bevo was credited with 1954 points for 39 games, a 50.1 average, but 27 of the games were against junior colleges, seminaries and service teams.

It's a virtually certainty that the NCAA will follow the coaches' recommendation.

The nation's new all-time top scorer among players who faced a full schedule of senior teams is Eberle Neal of Wofford, with a 32.6 average.

Knicks Win First NBA Playoff Test Over Baltimore

By The Associated Press
The New York Knickerbockers, who have made the playoffs every year since they've entered the league, were off and running today in quest of their first National Basketball Association championship.

Joe Lapchick's New Yorkers lost the final series last year to the Minneapolis Lakers in seven games. It could wind up with the same two teams again. They won their respective division titles.

The Knicks began their preliminary three-game playoff with the Baltimore Bullets Tuesday night by walloping Clair Bee's charges, 80-62. The second game is scheduled Thursday in Baltimore, and the third, if necessary, in New York Saturday.

Except for a playoff game for fourth place between the Indianapolis Olympians and the Milwaukee Hawks, the season ended officially Tuesday night with Syracuse defeating Boston, 72-68, in a playoff for second place in the eastern division; Milwaukee stopping Fort Wayne, 87-61, and Minneapolis edging Indianapolis, 73-71.

Veck Has Tentative Offer To Sell Club in Baltimore

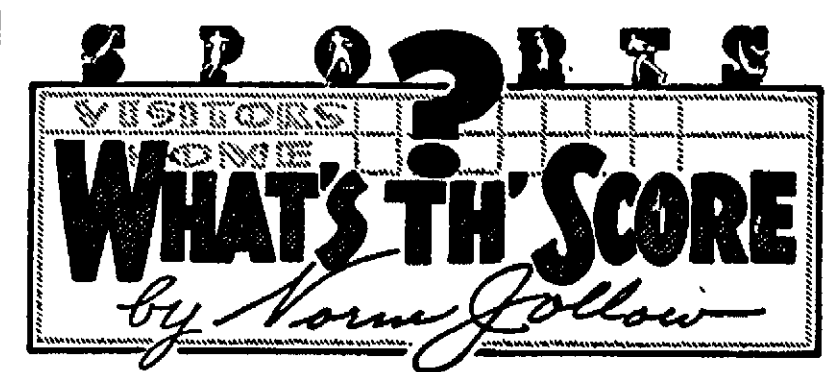

ST. LOUIS (AP)—With a tentative Baltimore offer to buy the St. Louis Browns and a hope for renewed interest, Bill Veck arrived home from Florida by plane Tuesday night. His arrival was unobtrusive.

Veck told newsmen that he had been approached by an unidentified Baltimore individual about the possible sale of the Browns.

Baltimore, of course, figured to get the Browns had the American League endorsed Veck's plans for a franchise shift.

Cheerful Mood
Veck had placed a $2,400,000 price tag on the 80 per cent of Browns' stock held by himself and his associates.

In a cheerful mood, Veck said he has found there are "a lot of Brown fans in St. Louis. If they'll

THIS IS ONE FOR THE OLD TIMERS, mostly, but I hope it will be of interest to the youths and middle agers as well.

Yesterday we mentioned that Dr. J. C. Vezina, of Mapleton, Minn., was in town and that he was visiting some of his old students back in the days when the doctor was football and basketball coach here in Dixon.

DURING THE MORNING, Dr. Vezina stopped in and was good enough to sit down and talk with us about the days gone by, injecting a little comparison with the present.

After we had dipped into his activities since leaving Dixon in 1921, I managed to ask the question of how basketball today compares with the sport back in his coaching days.

DR. VEZINA, who still follows athletics closely, though now it is the Minnesota variety, gave several impressions on why the game is faster and the scores are higher than in the past.

To begin with, the dropping of the center jump after each basket has been one factor since it was not possible for the possession of the ball to be held almost equally by both teams. In the old days, one team might control the sphere most of the time simply by having a taller center than the rest and seeing to it that your team got the tip most often.

CLOSER GUARDING IN THE PAST was another factor. Today, virtually all body contact is considered a foul while in the past, fouls were called when it seemed body contact was intentional. Therefore, it was possible to guard closer and it became more difficult to get off a good shot.

Today, Dr. Vezina considers the game is more scientific, more skillful and much faster. Accuracy in shooting is receiving far more stress than it did in the past and many new shots have been developed.

IN THE PAST, most shooting was either a two-hand underhand shot similar to the way some players make their free throws, or a two-hand push set shot. There was very little one-hand shooting as today and hook shots were virtually unheard of.

The teams of the past took more chances and fired much more wildly, the doctor said and there were far fewer fouls called since body contact was allowed. However, though only 10-15 fouls were usually called, anybody could shoot the free throw and each team usually had one specialist shoot from the charity stripe.

SMALL BOYS WERE COMMON back around 1920 as compared to today when players under six feet are seldom considered. In the past, there was a chance for the short guy, Dr. Vezina stated.

One of the pet tricks, a way back when, was to send the scrubs in for the first half. These boys were usually football players and were considered the shock troops used to wear down the opposition. In the second half, the regulars went in to play the game.

THOUGH DR. VEZINA STILL FOLLOWS SPORTS closely, he considers his active participation relegated to the "old man sports off hunting and fishing."

Of his three years as Dixon coach, the doctor considers them pretty successful. "We beat Sterling most of the time and that pretty much determines the success of a season," the doctor thought. And it still does.

DIXON ENTERED the North Central Illinois tournaments at Rockford, and while not winning, the Dixon five twice won the good appearance and conduct trophies. In addition, one year the team won third place if Dr. Vezina's memory serves him right. Belvidere usually proved the thorn in the Dixon side.

After Dr. Vezina left Dixon, he went to the University of Minnesota to study medicine and while there he helped as assistant coach and as trainer.

SINCE 1927 WHEN HE FINISHED at the University of Minnesota, he served his internship and worked for a while at the Mayo Clinic before taking up private practice in Mapleton, Minn. Dr. Vezina said that for some time he had considered returning to practice in Dixon but finally decided upon Mapleton.

Remembering some of the men and boys who helped him while a coach, Dr. Vezina spoke of John "Red" Vail, who once ran a pool hall. Vail knew the training rules the boys were to follow and when he caught them in town or in the pool hall, he heaved them out and told him to go home.

GROVER C. "SWAGGER" WILHELM, local barber received an additional job from the high school as chief massager. Both Wilhelm and Vail were known as the coach's downtown assistants.

Another helper was Sherwood Dixon, recently defeated candidate for governor of Illinois who helped out with the Dixon football linemen while at college at Notre Dame.

VEZINA STILL REMEMBERS the names of most of his basketball players, such as: Bob Shaw, Willard Jones, Gerald "Lumberfoot" Berry, Chuck Roland, Clark Hess, Dick Haley, Gene Hines, Ben Bremer, Clint and John Ives, Lawrence Dale, Harold "Tuffy" Jones and LaVerne Sheppard, Utley Noble, Ed Barlow, Clarence Vail and Willard Countryman.

This was Dr. Vezina's first visit to Dixon in 15 years, but we hope there won't be another such long interval before he returns. Next time we'd like to talk about football, a subject time wouldn't permit this visit.

Vote on Braves Franchise Shift May Be Today

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The Boston-to-Milwaukee franchise shift hung in the balance today as the National League and American Association met to vote on the transfer.

Owner Lou Perini was confident he would get approval to move his Braves into the minor league territory where he already operates a farm club.

Perini said he had contacted all National League owners, except Phil Wrigley of Chicago and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh. He said he had found no opposition.

A unanimous vote is necessary to approve transfer of a National League franchise.

Bruce Dudley, American Association president, said it would require a 6-1 vote in that league, with Milwaukee abstaining, to approve any transfer.

Kansas Upsets Washington As Indiana Breezes by LSU

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Phog Allen's "half scared and skinny legged" Kansas Jayhawks will defend their National Collegiate basketball championship against Indiana's high-strung Hoosiers tonight.

Coach Branch McCracken's Indians, Big Ten champions and voted No. 1 nationally, followed the form chart in beating Louisiana State, 80-67, in the opening game of the NCAA semifinals Tuesday night.

Kansas, with only one of its five starters back from the NCAA and Big Seven conference's 1952 champs, humbled Washington's Huskies, the country's No. 2 quintet, 79-53.

Consolation Game
Washington and Louisiana State will meet for consolation honors beginning at 7:45 (CST). Kansas and Indiana tangle about two hours later.

The defending champions got out in front 8-0 before Washington could get a point and made the halfway turn 45-34. The Huskies' hopes were killed, for all practical purposes, when their All America Bob Houbregs fouled out early in the third quarter. It marked the first time in 57 games that Houbregs fouled out.

Big Lead
Indiana breezed to an 11-point first quarter lead, 31-20, over Louisiana State and there was nothing the Bengal Tigers, led by Bobby Pettit's 29-point shooting, could do about it.

The Hoosiers' All Big Ten Don Schlundt matched Pettit's scoring total and teammate Bob Leonard came through with 22.

British Hold Purse, Cartier Held Turpin

LONDON (AP)—America's Walter Cartier did the holding Tuesday night in his short and unhappy middleweight fight with Randy Turpin but today the British were holding—holding up his purse money pending an inquiry into the fiasco which ended in disqualification.

The bout was stopped in the second round when referee Tommy Little ordered Cartier out of the ring.

Cartier, a New Yorker, had been warned at least seven times to stop pinning Turpin's arms to his hips with the insides of his elbows.

Wild Man
After Little disqualified him, Cartier began cursing and running like a wild man around the ring—both inside and outside the ropes. He kicked the ropes and shouted at ringside reporters, "No! no! no!"

Then he briefly attacked Turpin. Later he attacked the prefabricated wall in his dressing room. He won that bout, knocking a fair sized dent in the bulkhead.

"Raw Deal"
"I got a raw deal," he claimed. "When the referee stopped the fight the first time to warn us it was me who was punching away. Turpin was doing the holding."

Turpin didn't appear to be quite sure just what happened. Little disqualified Cartier in such a low voice no one except the men in the ring heard him. When Turpin put on his robe it was the first anyone else knew the fight was over.

Up until that moment only about three punches had been thrown. Turpin threw all of them.

Moore Asks Fight With Matthews Or Marciano
SPOKANE, Wash.—(AP)—Archie Moore stopped 210 pound Al Spaulding in three rounds Tuesday night and then clamored again for Harry Matthews, pride of the Northwest, or Rocky Marciano, king of heavyweights.

The light heavyweight champion said he'll continue his once-a-week schedule until "I can smoke out Matthews or get the big guy."

Spaulding was flattened by a stiff right seconds before the bell ending round one, and barely got up in time.

Moore, who at 180 gave away 30 pounds, put Spaulding down three times in the second. He was counted out in 1:54 of the third.

Dykes vs. Langlois In Television Bout

DALLAS (AP)—Bobby Dykes, the lanky Texan whose fistic fortunes struck a snag of three straight losses, meets the clever Frenchman Pierre Langlois, in a 10-round nationally televised bout in Dallas tonight.

Still ranked No. 9 among the middleweights, Dykes is a mild favorite to beat Langlois, rated No. 4. Dykes will weigh 156, the Frenchman 161.

GOP Has to Prove It Can Cut Budget

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration arrived in town like a bunch of surgeons with glistening knives in their hands, just aching to cut the fat out of the budget.

They still have to prove they can cut it.

Already there's a difference of opinion inside President Eisenhower's own official family. Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge wants to trim far more money off the Interior Department than Secretary Douglas McKay wants taken.

The budget, filling a fat book with itemized government operations and costs, wasn't flung together by a couple of White House secretaries while President Truman was busy packing his trunks.

It was the result of a lot of work by a lot of people who started on it as long ago as last summer.

When all the estimates from all over the government were finished they were shuttled into the Bureau of the Budget which has a staff paid to try to cut them down.

The Truman budget called for spending $78½ billion dollars. It looked too big to the Eisenhower administration. As soon as it took over it went to work on its own estimates.

After looking over the Interior Department's operations Dodge thought its money requirements could be reduced 200 million dollars below Truman's figures.

But McKay, Interior secretary, can't see where Interior can stand a cut of any more than 54 million.

This difference of opinion within the Eisenhower official family is the only one that's come to light. There probably will be others. Most likely places will be in the Defense and State Departments.

The MAGIC EGG—The Little People's Easter Story

Negro, 'Helped by the Lord,' Saves Colonel, Called Hero

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (U)—A 19-year-old Negro who was "helped by the Lord" stood in front of a bunker on embattled Little Gibraltar Tuesday and kept attacking Chinese Communists from reaching a wounded American lieutenant colonel.

Pvt. Courtney L. Stanley of Mansfield, La., was identified today as the soldier who saved the officer's life and two other men in the bunker. The colonel's name was withheld.

Killed Eight
Stanley said he killed eight Chinese who attacked the bunker. He suffered only a few scratches from Communist concussion grenades and was still on duty on Little Gibraltar today.

A Second division officer took Stanley to a rear area where Pfc. William Wuorinen, who was with the wounded colonel, identified Stanley and said:

"He saved everybody's life in that bunker."

Stanley said, "I think God was really with me that time. I know he was."

Stanley said he and Wuorinen helped the colonel into the bunker after the colonel was wounded. Then, he said, he stood in a trench outside the bunker and held off Chinese attackers from 5:30 a.m. until 9 a.m.

"I knew that unless there was someone there shooting, the Chinese would have got the colonel and would have taken him prisoner."

Saw 15 Chinese
"I was standing there to protect the colonel and myself and the rest of the guys."

He said he saw about 15 Chinese move up to the bunker.

"I just stood out there and fired with my Browning automatic rifle until it jammed. Then I got an M-1 from Wuorinen in the bunker and I fired it."

Stanley said he fired 31 magazines, each holding 20 rounds, with his BAR. Then he fired about 12 rounds with the M-1.

"I'm positive I killed eight Chinese," he said. "Every time one poked his head over the trench I fired about a dozen rounds. I saw eight drop."

Not a Hero
Stanley said he did not think he was a hero.

"If the Lord wasn't with me, I wouldn't have made it," he said. "I said to myself, 'The Lord is my shepherd.'"

The wounded colonel described Stanley as "the bravest man I've ever seen."

Cave Collapses, Boy, 12, Buried

EAST PEORIA, Ill. (U)—A children's cave collapsed Tuesday burying a 12-year-old boy under three feet of dirt and crushing him to death under a 400-pound boulder. The boy, Lawrence Luchini, 12, and Jimmy Westlake, 13, had been digging the cave into a hillside for three days, police said.

Today as the three boys left the cave to go home for supper, Lawrence went back in to get his shovel.

Police said the roof collapsed, burying Lawrence in three feet of dirt. They said this loosened a 400-pound boulder which rolled down the hill and settled on the collapsed earthwork.

Nearby residents dug dirt for 25 minutes before extricating the boy. A fire department inhalator failed to revive him.

Hal Boyle Takes Borrowed Child to Wonderful Circus

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—If you don't have a child, borrow one — and take it to a circus this spring. It's a real adventure. And you'll learn a lot. Such as:
1. A child's stomach will hold more than a lady's handbag.
2. A child has a more civilized and humane sense of entertainment than the average grownup. Frances and I made the experiment recently. We took our god-child, Nina, to the Polack Brothers vest-pocket circus, which raises about a million dollars a year for the Shriners' fund to help crippled children.

Blonde and Five
Nina is blonde and five and serious and pretty. The trip to the circus was partly to help her recover from a great sadness that threatens to blight her life — her desperate inability to grow pig-tails.
"I know a little girl only four years old, and she's got pig-tails," Nina has been saying. "And I am half-past-five, and don't have any. I don't understand that."

The circus was in the Flushing Armory, and when we entered I hesitated, uncertain whether to stay or run. The wooden stands were packed with hundreds of screaming, crying, yowling, yammering little young hopes of tomorrow.

The circus began, quieting the chaos into bedlam. In the next two hours I tried gamely to match Nina's appetite. Between us we consumed two bottles of pop, two bags of popcorn, two sticks of ice-cream, a box of taffy candy, and two scones of pink spun cotton candy.

"This Is Fun"
"Oh, this is fun—this is weally, weally fun," said Nina, waving her cotton candy and leaving half of it in my hair and left ear.

She loved the merry clowns and the animal acts, the trained chimpanzees, the gentle elephants, the galloping camels, the beautiful ladies on the prancing white horses.

But the high wire walkers and the trapeze artists made her nervous. Such acts thrill adults because a mis-step or poor timing may bring death to the performers.

Nina only felt sorry for them. She could hardly bear to watch them. She gripped Frances and me tightly by the hand and her little palms were damp with perspiration.

"I hope they don't fall," she whispered.

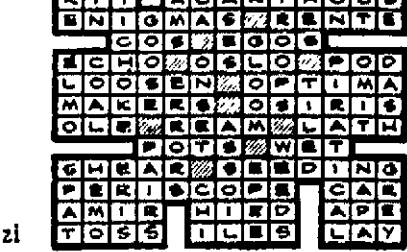

She got her biggest laugh from a capering brown cloth horse that came apart and disclosed two men.

Still Hungry
As we left, I was hiccupping biliously, but Nina said she was hungry. The man with the cotton

Army Chief Stevens at Joliet Arsenal

JOLIET, Ill. (U.S.)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said Tuesday of the nation's ammunition supply, "Production and supply are increasing steadily. In fact, the supply is reaching substantial proportions, but no one of us is satisfied completely."

Stevens and Maj. Gen. E. L. Ford, chief of the army ordnance corps, toured the Joliet arsenal Tuesday.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retired Eighth Army commander, testified before a congressional committee two weeks ago that his army operated for 22 months with shortages of certain ammunition supplies.

Stevens was asked about a charge made Monday by Sen. Byrd

(D-Va.) that the defense department is "trying to pass the buck to congress" in a dispute over whether the congressmen supplied enough money to produce adequate munitions for Korea.

Stevens said Byrd is a good friend of his but said "there might have been a misunderstanding."

Stevens continued, "we did testify that congress appropriated the funds requested by the defense department, so he (Byrd) is completely right in that observation. But that is not the same thing as saying the army had all the funds it would like to have had for ammunition."

Stevens said his visit to the arsenal, a 150 million dollar installation covering 56 square miles, did not grow out of the ammunition shortage but "just happened to fit into his schedule."

Cab Driver Dies At Wheel; Woman Prevents Crash

GLENDALE, Calif. (U.S.)—Taxi driver Arthur Stafford, 66, collapsed at the wheel Tuesday. The taxi swerved across the center line of traffic and headed for crowds of shoppers in front of a department store.

His passenger, Mrs. Virginia Rives, 25, climbed into the front seat and brought the vehicle to a stop. Stafford was dead of a heart attack when he arrived at a hospital.
